Consult with your advisor(s) to set the milestones for this semester. You should list between 3 and 5 important 'things' that you will have completed by that date (such as features being designed, implemented or tested, experiments completed, data gathered, results obtained). Do not include presentations or reports as milestones. The milestones must be approved by your advisor to certify that the promised work is not too less nor too much. These milestones will be used by faculty members in judging your work.
